REV. CLIFTON DEAN.

I trust you will allow me a little space to say something about my old friend and brother in the Lord, Rev. Clifton Dean, who passed to his reward December 22nd, 1910, after several months of affliction which he bore with great patience. He often said to his family and friends that it was all right, and he was only awaiting the Master's call. Bro. Dean was born near Round Bottom, W. Va., in the year 1836, one year before your humble writer. We grew up in the same neighborhood and were associated together. We began our religious lives the same year. We both were quite young, not over 12 years old. Bro. Dean entered the ministry early in life, joined the M. E. Church, South, and conference and was engaged as an itinerant preacher for a number of years. The fact is, the prime of his life was spent in the ministerial work. After long years of faithful labor over some of the roughest portions of our country, on account largely of his age and infirmity he took a supernumerary relation. He did not stop preaching but continued right on in the good work. It fell to his lot to preach a large number of funerals, in fact he was the choice of a large number of our people. His sermons were greatly appreciated on account of their great depth of thought. Bro. Dean was partly a self made man, was a hard student but never had the advantage of an education except what he gathered from the common schools which were generally very poor at his day. In reviewing his past life and the great disadvantages which he had to labor under we deem him a wonderful man, and can say a great man in fact fell when he departed this life. Bro. Dean was twice married, his first wife living only a few years. He and his second wife were married 39 years at his death. He leaves her and a number of grandchildren to mourn his departure, but they wept not as those who have no hope. They will miss him, the church will miss him, the whole neighborhood will miss him. Our loss is Heaven's gain. Peaceful be thy rest, servant of God.

Your conflicts with life are forever past,
With millions that's gone on before,
Thou art saved at last.
J. F. Hatten.

KENTUCKY NEIGHBORS.

Miss Virginia Davis, of Prichard, W. Va., and Bernie Daniels eloped to Ironton last Saturday and were married.

Kenne F. Banfield, brother of Dr. A. P. Banfield, died suddenly Saturday at the residence of his sister, on Garner, Boyd county.

Rev. Roscoe Murray and other able ministers have started a revival service at the United Baptist Church. Deep interest is manifested by the people.—Paintsville Herald.

Wm. Bartram, ex-Mayor of Fort Gay, W. Va., passed through here Tuesday en route to the Forks where his brother-in-law Lewis Borders has a contract running logs.—Pikeville Herald.

Thompson Short, who was rafting logs at Mouth of Card last week, in jumping from one raft to another, lost his footing and went in the river. All attempts to rescue him were futile and he was drowned, the body not having yet been recovered. He was 28 years old and leaves a wife and baby.

One day last week 15-year-old Lula Sturgill passed through here and was met on the bridge here by some men, whose names we have not learned. She was escorted by them to the West Virginia border, where she was turned over to the party who had been instrumental in carrying her away from home. Her grandmother came here and instituted a search, and the officers at Williamson were communicated with. She was rescued by them and taken from the parties, who were holding her captive, and was held at Williamson until directed by the grandmother to have her sent to Fort Gay, where she could be turned over to the authorities in this State. She was in the custody of a man who signed himself J. H. Chapman, and from whom Officer Milt Butler, of this place, who was in waiting for the girl, says he had trouble recovering her, as Chapman, he claims, exhibited two automatic revolvers, telling him the girl should not be taken across the bridge at Louisa without serious trouble. However, Officer Butler, undaunted, succeeded in getting her to the Kentucky shore and brought her here that night on No. 38, where she was turned over to her grandmother. The next morning the girl was taken before Judge J. P. Marra, in Police Court, where she detailed her entire trip from the time of leaving home, and implicated some prominent parties, who had not been in the least suspected, and against whom the charges will be investigated.

and there may yet be startling developments.—Pike, cor. to Independent.

We will exchange merchandise for stock, cattle, hogs, sheep, horses and mules. G. C. McClure & Son, Gallip Ky.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of execution No. 1945 in my hands wherein The Louisa National Bank is plaintiff, and Jay H. Northup and others are defendants, which execution issued from the office of the Clerk of the Lawrence Circuit Court in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $175.00, with interest thereon from the 20th day of December, 1910, and the costs of this suit, which execution has been levied upon the hereinafter described tract of land, the undersigned will on the 20th day of February, 1911, at being County Court day, offer for sale at public outcry to the highest and best bidder, for cash in hand, to satisfy the execution above referred to, all of or a sufficient amount to pay said indebtedness, that certain tract of land which is a portion of the tract of land known as the Sam Dock Smith tract, adjoining the Eloise farm in Lawrence county Kentucky, near the mouth of Lick creek, and said land is bounded on the East by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company's right of way, on the South and West by the Eloise farm and on North by the county road running up Lick Creek, and is a portion of the same land conveyed to J. H. Northup by L. K. Debus, Trustee by deed dated February the 11th, 1908, and is recorded in deed book 43, page 277, of the Lawrence County Court records, containing 50 acres more or less and is levied on as the property of Jay H. Northup.

Given under my hand this the 1st day of February, 1911.

JOHN H. CARTER,
Sheriff of Lawrence County.
